Thermal Transfer Labels Austik Barco Series

Spectacle tags are designed for all types spectacles and can attach in almost any position. Each consists of a tag designed to attach to the spectacle frame together with a matching tag for the case. This configuration makes these tags ideal for either new sales or tracking repairs and adjustments. (see the diagram below). Spectacle tags are for use with thermal transfer barcode printers only. The label Barco-SI accepts all popular bar codes including EAN13 and UPCA and E.

How It Works

The Tags have been specifically designed for spectacles. After printing the tags fold in a similar way to a standard stringtag except that they use a wider tail to ensure that they hang level the frame. The additional box label ensures that one set of labels may be used for all labeling requirements.
